Human Resource Management Information System

I have the pleasure to enclose copies of a pamphlet published by this Ministry for circulation among members of your staff. A copy thereof may also be placed in Notice Boards or at such conspicuous place for the attention of staff members.

2. The HRMIS being a critically important project for the civil service, it is imperative that each and every officer be made aware of the salient features thereof. I therefore rely on your indulgence to ensure that the pamphlets reach their intended destination.
3. Further information will be provided in the same or other form to inform public officers of developments in the implementation process.
4. Kindly note that the pamphlet is also available on this Ministry's website: <http://civilservice.gov.mu>.
