Part One. Program Description

I. About the Program

1. Introduction of the Program

The Academic Education Programs sponsored by the Ministry of Commerce of the People's Republic of China in 2008 is designed to foster high-end business officials and managerial personnel for the recipient countries, offering one-year and two-year master programs as well as three-year doctoral programs for the purpose of educating high-end and inter-disciplinary talents working in the applied fields of government, trade, foreign affairs, agriculture, technology, education, culture and health, building intellectual capacity and facilitating the economic and social development of the recipient countries. These programs provide assistance to governmental officials, research fellows, and senior managerial personnel on their master and doctoral education in China, which are fully conducted in English. Admission requirements include a bachelor's degree, relevant work experience, and decent physical conditions, which are essential for the intense study needed for obtaining the degrees. These graduates are now working in their fields of specialization in their home countries and are undertaking an increasingly significant role in the economic development cooperation between China and their home countries.

In 2015, Shanghai National Accounting Institute started to offer the two-year “Master of Professional Accounting Program” with the support of the Ministry of Commerce of People’s Republic of China. So far 249 government officials, scholars and managerial personnel from 34 developing countries have joined the program. Most of them come from public sectors such as ministry of finance, central bank, audit office, etc. The program aims to cultivate high-level, interdisciplinary and application-oriented talents in the fields of accounting, finance and management for developing countries. After completing their studies and returning to their home countries, the alumni of the program generally have achieved good career development. They have made positive contributions to promoting the bilateral economic and trade cooperation as well as the friendly relations between their home countries and China in their respective positions.

We believe that by participating in the program and obtaining the degree, you will be able to acquire professional knowledge and expertise, thereby realizing your life value and purpose and in the meantime contributing to the social and economic development of your own countries.

2. Prospective Students

Government officials, managerial personnel from state-owned enterprises as well as researchers or university lecturers from developing countries with bachelor's degree or above in the field of economics, management etc. Applicants with government work experience or policy making experience are preferred.

3. Program Objective

The Program is designed to train experienced, application-oriented and high-caliber talents in the field of accounting, finance and management to be financial managers, researchers or policymakers with profound expertise and strong analytical and decision-making ability.

4. Enrollment Plan

We plan to enroll a maximum of 30 students in our two-year full-time Master of Professional Accounting Program. The teaching language is English.

5. Scholarship Coverage

- Students are exempt from tuition fees.
- Free on-campus accommodation.
- One-off resettlement fee of 3000 RMB.
- Stipend: 36,000 RMB/person/year (3,000 RMB per month) for Master's Degree, to be paid monthly according to the actual time of their stay in China.
- Free medical insurance for international students (will be purchased by the school).
- One-time round-trip international airfare (first time fly to China after enrollment, and fly back to home country upon graduation), and one time home-visit international airfare during the term of study.
- The annual review is compulsory for all students. Those who pass the review may continue to enjoy full scholarships in the next year.
- After coming to China, students are required to take the Physical Examination again, and the cost is not included in the scholarship.
- Since stipend remittance takes some time, we strongly recommend you prepare a certain amount of cash (500 US dollars or equivalent RMB) before coming to China.
- Other expenses will be managed and used by MOFCOM or the school and will not be distributed to students. MOFCOM only provides students with financial assistance within their enrolled academic duration. Students who delay graduation for any reason will not receive continued funding.

II. Introduction of the Institute

1. About SNAI

The Shanghai National Accounting Institute (SNAI) was officially established in September 2000 with the strong support of the Chinese government. It is a national-level high-end training base for talents in accounting, finance and management affiliated to the Ministry of Finance of China (MOF). It is also the location of the Asia-Pacific Finance and Development Institute (AFDI), which was established by the Chinese government to promote regional capacity building. Over the past 20 years, SNAI has sought to find pedagogy proper for senior financial and accounting professionals, cultivate high-end talents for the accounting sector and provide advanced continuing education for macroeconomic regulators, large-and-medium-sized SOEs, financial institutions and intermediaries. Today, SNAI has created its own unique teaching methodology underpinned by the three pillars of degree education, executive development program and distance education. Since 2011, SNAI has been approved by the Academic Degrees Committee of the State Council as the institute for conferring master's degrees in professional accounting, auditing, tax and finance. In 2024, SNAI was approved by the Academic Degrees Committee of the State Council of PRC as Doctoral Degree Conferring Unit and is authorized to conduct professional PhD program in Auditing. Looking forward, SNAI will continue to make unremitting efforts to build it into a leading accounting institute with international recognition, which constitutes the realization of four sub-goals as being a highland in bringing up top accounting talents in China, a think tank for national accounting policymaking and corporate finance, a nationwide knowledge and information hub on accounting, and an international platform for communication and exchange in accounting.

2. About AFDI

The Asia-Pacific Finance and Development Institute (AFDI) which is co-located at SNAI, was initiated by the Chinese Central Government for capacity building under the APEC framework. Since the establishment in 2001, cooperating with international organizations such as the Asian Development Bank, World Bank, New Development Bank, UNIDO, ACCA, etc., AFDI has conducted various capacity building trainings, seminars, forums and research on regional financial and development issues.

To promote South-South cooperation and capacity building in the fields of finance and development for developing countries, in 2015, AFDI launched the “Master of Professional Accounting Program”, which aims to provide professional master's degree education to the young and mid-aged finance and economic officials from developing countries in the world. A total of 249 international students from 34 developing countries around the world have been enrolled. They are mainly officials from public sectors such as the ministry of finance, central bank, and audit office of their home countries.

3. Environment and Facilities

With a humid subtropical monsoon climate, Shanghai has a very pleasant climate with four distinct seasons. Shanghai enjoys abundant sunshine and rainfall throughout the year. Spring and autumn in Shanghai are relatively short with longer summer and winter. More than 60% of the rainfall in the whole year concentrated in the flood season from May to September. The hottest seasons are from July to August with more than 10 days above 35 °C per year. The coldest seasons are from late December to the end of February.

SNAI campus covers an area of 34.67 hectares and a floor area of 87,000 square meters. Its geographical location also is favorable, being adjacent to Shanghai Hongqiao International Airport and National Exhibition and Convention Center. The park-like campus is equipped with first-class teaching and learning facilities, and a common kitchen, as well
