3) Living and study on campus

Shanghai where the university is located has a humid subtropical climate and experiences four distinct seasons. Winters are chilly and damp, with northwesterly winds from Siberia which can cause nighttime temperatures to drop below freezing, although most years there are only one or two days of snowfall. Summers are hot and humid with some days over 40 °C (104 °F); occasional downpours or freak thunderstorms can be expected. The city is also susceptible to typhoons in summer and the beginning of autumn, none of which in recent years has caused considerable damage. The most pleasant seasons are spring, although changeable and often rainy, and autumn, which is generally sunny and dry. The city averages 4.2 °C (39.6 °F) in January and 34 °C (93.2 °F) in July. The price level in Shanghai is slightly higher, but the students' expenses in school are relatively low, and the full scholarship is enough to cover the living expenses.

The residential halls for international students are located on two campuses of ECNU. Students of this program are provided with free single room accommodation equipped with independent bathrooms, public kitchens and washing machines. Besides, an air-conditioner, a desk, a chair, a bed, and a wardrobe are also provided within each room.
