MASTER'S DEGREE IN HUMAN RESOURCE PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT

(February 1, 2002 - January 31, 2003)
(Affiliated to GGS Indraprastha University, Delhi, INDIA)
AN INVITATION

On behalf of the Institute of Applied Manpower Research (IAMR) we are pleased to introduce you to a course in Human Resource Planning and Development for the award of Master's Degree. This course is affiliated to the prestigious GGS Indraprashta University of India.

The Course is highly multi-disciplinary with orientation towards user’s need. IAMR has extensive experience in the field of Human Resource Planning and Development spanning over nearly four decades. The Course aims to assist the professionals of the developing countries to broaden their perspective in the field of Human Resource Planning and Development.

This invitation is for the third Course on the subject to be organised by IAMR. The second course is being successfully conducted at the Institute at present. The first two courses had participants from Bangladesh, Kenya, Mauritius, Sri Lanka, St. Lucia, Ethiopia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzsatan, Lesotho, Mongolia, Namibia, Nepal, Phillipines, Sudan, Swaziland & Tonga. The participants are middle and senior level professionals from Government departments and private sectors of their respective countries.

The Course is considered important in addressing the objectives of human resource planning and development. The participants attending the Course not only express their satisfaction with the conduct of the Course, but also term it as “the most beneficial Course and worth the sacrifice of leaving one’s country and family behind.”

During the Course, participants have the opportunity not only to improve their capacity to look at issues related to human resources at national and international levels but also to interact with a diverse and expert group willing to share experiences and assisting learning from each other. We invite you to apply to what we trust will be a worthwhile investment of your time and effort towards your professional career growth.

Mrs. Harsh Sharma
Head (Post Graduate Courses)

Dr. H. Ramachandran
Director
ABOUT THE INSTITUTE

The Institute of Applied Manpower Research (IAMR), a premiere institution in the field of Manpower Planning, was set up by the Government of India as an autonomous organisation in 1962 to evolve an institutional framework capable of sustaining and steering a systematic manpower planning process in the country.

The Institute is governed by a General Council having representatives, amongst others, from the Central Ministries and State Governments. Deputy Chairman of Planning Commission, Government of India is the ex-officio President of the General Council of IAMR.

Affairs of the Institute are managed by an Executive Council which functions under the control and direction of the General Council. The Chairman and members (excepting the ex-officio members) of the Executive Council are nominated by the President. Member Planning Commission, Government of India is the Chairman of the Executive Council. The Institute is headed by a Director who occupies the position in the rank of Additional Secretary in the Government of India.

IAMR is not only a research, training, and consultancy organisation but it also undertakes academic/educational activities, among others, through a powerful network of distinguished academicians drawn from a variety of fields, experienced resource persons from different sectors of endeavour, and eminent members of the Executive and General Councils. These resources lend us wisdom and guide our activities.

Being a dynamic organisation with the ability to respond to changes and having wide experience in Research, Training and Consultancy, the Institute continues to reorient its working to meet national and international priorities in human resource planning and development. At the request of international agencies and overseas governments and organisations, IAMR contributes towards institution building programmes and academic courses in Human Resource Planning and Development.

The Institute made a major stride in internationalisation of its educational activity with the commencement of IAMR-Commonwealth Post Graduate Diploma Course of 9 months duration in Human Resource Planning and Development in January 1997. Since then four batches covering 53 senior and middle level officers from 17 Commonwealth countries were awarded Post Graduate Diploma. They represented Bangladesh, Gambia, Ghana, Haiti, Kenya, Maldives, Mauritius, Sri Lanka, Swaziland, Tanzania, Tonga, Uganda, Vietnam, Western Samoa, Zambia, Zimbabwe and India.
University located at Delhi, India) in the year 2000. First batch consisted of 14 officers from 11 countries. At present both Diploma and Master's Degree courses are running concurrently and are being attended by 24 participants from 18 countries.

The Institute also proposes to provide facility for research in Human Resource Planning and Development through its Ph.D. programme, in affiliation with the GGS Indraprastha University, Delhi, India. Modalities concerning residence requirement and fee structure for international participants is being worked out with the university.

COURSES OFFERED

IAMR offers the following courses

- DIPLOMA

  A nine month Course in Human Resource Planning and Development.
  (February 1 – October 31, 2002)

- MASTER'S DEGREE

  One year Master's Degree in Human Resource Planning and Development (in affiliation with GGS Indraprastha University, Delhi, India).
  (February 1, 2002 – January 31, 2003)

- Ph.D. PROGRAMME

  Proposed to start from the academic year 2003-04 for International Participants.
  The programme has already started for Indian Nationals from academic year 2001.

  The Brochure relates to the Master's Degree in Human Resource Planning and Development.

THE MASTER'S DEGREE COURSE

Recent years have seen a surge in the awareness, interest and expectations in respect of human resource development and its planning, both as a means to attain a higher growth and productivity and as an objective in itself to attain welfare and self esteem. Human Resource Development (HRD) broadly relates to enhancement of human capital and its utilization. Although it encompasses several ingredients and processes, ranging from population control, literacy and education programmes, to skills and employment planning.

The increased attention to Human Resource Planning and Development stems from the rationale of planning and investing in the above ingredients and processes which, in turn, are linked to the economic and social development objectives of a country. This makes the task of manpower planning the most important and equally difficult. There are no laid down rules or formal procedure for a planner to follow, there is no institutionalized training system for the same neither is there any educational institution which provides a degree level course in planning. This is true for planning in general and also for Human Resource Planning.

As Planning is inevitably bound with projections and forecasting, it requires sound knowledge of these techniques in the areas of economic, educational and social development. This calls for a course which integrates human resource planning with overall development. The Masters Degrees designed by IAMR in the field of Human Resource Planning and Development try to fill the lacunae felt by developing countries.

This Master's Degree Course, unlike any other academic activity, is designed as an in-service learning programme where the task of IAMR is not only to transmit knowledge but also to ensure its transfer and application at work. Training needs flow from the interpretation of the environment in which officials have to operate within their job-capacity. Here participants not only acquire functional expertise but holistic perspective, problem-solving skills and adding value to self as well as to the organization. To practitioners, it enhances their present work. This programme facilitates them to acquire competencies necessary for them to succeed in the world where know-how is changing so fast. To a Government, the Course would enable to systematize its human resource development efforts by providing relevant learning opportunities which update, re-educate and inculcate a spirit of innovation among the employees.

This course is based on the assumption that in-service education is the best means of making education relevant to the needs of the participants from different countries as they look at the process of change and how the change affects the employees in the organization. We believe that the participant who completes the Course is not merely a holder of a Master's Degree but a product of a comprehensive educational process. This is the reason we call the holder of the Degree a 'practitioner'.
Term Papers

Each participant, in addition to the other activities, is required to prepare one term paper (of about 10 - 15 pages) on a selected topic for each module in each semester. After completion of this term paper, each participant gives a seminar to his fellow participants in the presence of module coordinator and resource person. The topic for the term paper may be selected out of the syllabus prescribed for that particular module during the semester.

Project Work/Dissertation

Participants are required to prepare a project report/dissertation on a topic chosen within the framework of the Course and under the guidance of a faculty member (called supervisor) and a committee constituted for the purpose. The Project report is a mix of qualitative and quantitative approaches. The project report is a document which reflects application orientation of the learning by the participants during the course of the Institute. The reports are evaluated by a committee of experts and it carries double weightage compared to any other module. Subsequently, these documents are edited and published by the Institute for a wide circulation among academics and country Governments.

Field Visits/Study Tours

Field visits to various academic, professional and administrative organizations in India are arranged. Such visits allow the participants to have first hand information and experience in fields related to HRD techniques and practices, civil service personnel policies and programmes. Some of the places in India where field visits were conducted for previous courses include:

1. U.P. Academy of Administration, Nainital
2. ICMR Rajasthan Institute of Public Administration, Jaipur, Rajasthan
3. Himachal Pradesh University, Shimla

METHODOLOGY

The medium of instruction will be English. The methodology adopted for the Course will be an appropriate blend of the following: (i) Lecture Method, (ii) Discussion and Seminar Method, (iii) Case Studies, (iv) Special Lectures delivered by experts from various fields, (v) Workshops, (vi) Field Visits and Study tours.

EVALUATION

The institute follows international practice of continuous evaluation whereby the assessment is not restricted to performance in examinations and project work alone but also includes other academic activities the Group Discussion, Term papers, Tutorials/Exercises, etc.

Different weightage is given to these activities so as to foster interactive learning. Participants are accorded Grades for each module after “Normalization” of marks. Overall performance in each Semester and the course as a whole is made by Point Assessment method.

The course is intended primarily for those who have had practical experience of public policy in the government or corporate policy in para sta- tals or private sector organisations, be it in the formulation and implementation of policy or in training and analysis. Their background will often, though not exclusively lie in the social sciences. The institute also draws people from agriculture, industry, banking, management, education, health-care and other areas.

The institutional fee for the twelve months Master’s Course is payable in full advance. The living expenses for modest standard of living cover expenses for accommodation, food, pocket expenses and purchase of recommended books. Receipts shall have to be submitted for claiming reimbursement of cost of books.

The living expenses can also be paid to the participants directly in the name of their Government/Funding agencies. However, Institute would disburse the amounts to the participants regularly as cash payment to the institute in advance in full. The institute makes arrangement for the participant’s stay. In that event the accommodation charges should be paid to IAMR in advance in full. If the participants wish to stay elsewhere they may do so at their own responsibility.

b. Financial Assistance

The expenses on participation are expected to be met by the national government funding agencies of the candidates. Financial assistance can be sought from Commonwealth Fund for Technical Cooperation, London UN agencies and other international organisations. Government of India sets awards limited fellowships under its ITEC/CICS programmes. Details of Indian fellowships may be obtained from the nearest Indian High Commission/Embassies.

c. CFTC Award

Applicants from Commonwealth Countries are eligible for financial assistance to the Commonwealth Fund for Technical Cooperation. A limited number of CFTC awards may be available for meeting the course fee. However, as per CFTC stipulations, candidates must make a commitment of meeting their own costs and for travel costs. They must be nominated through the MTSD Points of Contact (POC) in their own country and must complete the MTSD nomination form (attached at Annexure 10). MTSD forms must be sent to the Director MTSD and a copy of the same to head (POC), IAMR. Alternatively, the prospective participants can also approach other funding agencies like UNDP, ILO, WHO etc. for financial assistance.
